

For dinner, I can totally recommend the Ristorante Michel'angelo. I tried a lot of restaurants, including those with breathtaking views, but sometimes you should join the locals, spare you the view for your nightly walk and eat for a reasonable price. We had some fresh tuna as a starter, gnocchi alla sorrentina and ravioli capresi as a main dish. The service was impeccable and the hosts are up for a chat even if the restaurant is exploding. They also offer cooking classes to enjoy the cuisine of Capri even more, and to bring some new culinary ideas back home. A reservation is recommended. Or show up around 9:30 PM, you're in Italy, eat late 😊

Fresh Tuna Carpaccio

Ravioli Capresi

Gnocchi alla Sorrentina